“ Pawpaw, words cannot express how very much I love you, and how much comfort I always took in knowing how much you loved me. The love you shared with all of us was unending. My favorite memories of you has to be our Friday night dinners out. When you and granny would pick me up at my house to take me to a special dinner, you took great pleasure in showing up wearing dresses , Skirts, with pantyhose and high heel shoes, and would refuse to change. Laughing as hard as you could me begging granny to make you change and of course in the end you always did... but one night you came and you were dressed in a really nice suit and I told you how handsome you looked, and when we got to the restaurant you excused yourself to go to the bathroom and came back out wearing a skirt .....I honestly didn't know what to do. Everyone in the restaurant caught on to the joke and laughed and then at the end I was laughing too...after crawling back from underneath the table. Every Child should be so lucky to have a grandfather just like you. I am so grateful. I treasure every memory, every phone call, every gift, I love you so very much. Thank you Pawpaw.... I will miss you so much. I will see you on the other side. Try not to cause too much trouble up there! XOXOXO.....Thank you Heavenly Father for blessing me with such a wonderful man to be my Grandfather .

All my Love, Katina.....

“ My brother Clifford, marched to the beat of his own drum, he loved his family and was a hard working man all his life. He was not pretentious and always said what was on his mind and what he thought for which I admired him. He diligently visited sister Ruth during her battle with dementia. He also made a point to regularly visit his Mama. I recall him returning from a job in the Carolina's in the fall when the leaves were magnificent; he picked up his Mama and went right back to show her the beauty of the fall leaves in the mountains. I didn't spend nearly enough time with him, but will miss our frequent phone conversations after which I always felt better. Ms. Irene and Mr. Dillard Jackson's family of nine children is now down to two remaining, but I believe they're all together in a better place. Rest in Peace my Brother, along with James, Charles, Richard, Ruth, Donald, and Bobby,

“ Cliff Jackson was a family friend who will be dearly missed. He was the most family oriented man I have ever met. In any conversation I ever had with him he would alertly speak of his wife, Ginger and his children and grandchildren. He was also a father figure to my son, Alex Sayers. A good man has left this earth but he left behind a life that was well lived with a family that he loved so much. God speed, Cliff.

“ I am one of Clifford Jackson's granddaughters. We had our differences we never saw eye to eye on anything just about but through the years we learn a lot from each other. I wasn't close to my grandfather as I should have been but never last he knew I loved him. You may be gone from my sight you're never going from a heart and the memories I have will carry on. I love and miss you deeply.

“ Words can't describe what happened they just happened but I know one thing papa wouldn't want us to cry over him because he is in heaven with the big man now but we will see him again one day when it is our time to go.
